

INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS SELECTION4.12

Appropriate instructional materials are a necessary resource for students to achieve the District's goal of creating educated and caring contributors to the world. The Superintendent shall adopt procedures for the selection of both state adopted and non-state adopted instructional materials. The goal for District-wide adoption of textbooks and instructional materials, which may include state-adopted and non-state-adopted textbooks and instructional materials, is to unify the curriculum of the District educational program throughout all schools and to place new and current instructional materials in schools within the first two (2) years of the state-adoption cycle.
